Worm Bin Composting

Worm bin composting is a great alternative to throwing away food scraps! Worm bins can decompose fruits, vegetables, eggshells, pasta, breads, coffee grounds, tea and tea bags. When worms do their work, they transform scraps into rich organic fertilizer called worm castings that your plants will love. The class offers more information about the benefits of using a worm bin, how to use and maintain your bin, and answers any questions. Participants will have a chance to win a three-stacking tray Worm Box Composting systems (worms not included). Up to 40 Worm Boxes will be given away!
